

Thank you for visiting a Black Cat page. These pages are safe for your computer. My website company is Go Daddy and they have a good reputation. They provide the servers where my pages are physically located, and the technical support for their design and operation. I recommend them.

There are two types of ads you may see on these pages. On my free pages, Go Daddy runs their own ads at the very top of the pages. I cannot speak for the quality of the ads, but I trust Go Daddy to keep them clean, and your computer clean. My ads appear elsewhere on the pages, never at the very top. Commission Junction brokers the ads I run. They bring publishers like myself together with advertisers. The ads are called “pay for performance” ads. No matter how many times you click them, it doesn't help me unless you buy something. I pick the ads based on my standards, and I appreciate your feedback.

It is my intent to keep your computer safe no matter what link you click on at one of my websites. If you have an issue with your computer that you think was caused by my ads or Go Daddy's please let me know. Commission Junction's role is to screen out any bad advertisers that load their junk onto your computer. If either company fails to screen one out, let me know. I have been there. I have cleaned my computer a number of times, and emailed the responsible company with advice about selling people things they actually want.

I am committed to keeping my sites safe for you. If you have an issue, email me at <mailto:email@MoundWestonka.com>. Those of you who use my local websites can just walk into my office at: 2567 Commerce Boulevard, Mound, MN 55364
